- For Preference section, the user is allowed to enter invalid food preference terms
 - E.g. If a user enter "jacket" as preference, it still returns some restaurants
 - Possible action: have YELP API only return restaurants, if it returns 0 restaurants
- If the user attempts to use the navigation bar, it will clear all his information he has inputted
 - This happens only the first time the navbar is clicked. Every subsequent navbar clicks will not clear information inputted by user
- On Recommendation page images of like/dislike buttons sometime disappear
- "Use my current location" button has to be pressed twice for it to actually work.
- "Use my current location" button won't display anything even though it gets processed in the backend after user double clicks
- The login function proved to be too buggy for the final release. Last minute server issues made testing impossible and certain features had not yet been ironed out. It has been removed from the page for this reason. Issues included, inputting an incorrect number of saved liked restaurants.
